Our Top Impact of 2023

We have successfully provided the planned supplies (reusable menstrual pads, detergent materials and underwear) to 300 women in target area. Thanks to the Global Giving team, our organization has got donation for this project.

The challenges of vulnerable women in a shelter life are so numerous. One of key needs for women is the need to get clean sanitary pads and hygiene and sanitation material which are useful for their health and dignity. Almost all displaced women in reproductive age from Tigray region have been in need of these supplies.

BDO's Current Progress

BDO have existed for the past four year and though our journey have been challenging but we have got good progress in fundraising, partnerships, increasing supporters, getting more experiences.

Fundraising Updates

Fundraising is the lifeblood for charities existence. Current global and local economic downturns and conflicts are becoming challenges to getting donations from individuals and institutions. There is imbalance between effective resource mobilization of charities and the demand of solving community needs. Should charities close their doors in the midst of increasing demands for life saving help and welfare services?

A story of a Local Donor

He doesn't want his name to be mentioned on any content outlet. I know whenever I message or call every year he asks me "how much is your allocation on me this year?" I say you gave this amount last year, but I don't know your capacity this year. Then he says "don't worry, I have a reason why I donate and I will send just send BDO"s account. I believe you are trying your best. I understand your courage and challenges". He never stops donating every year and I use it accordingly.

Message from the Leadership

The time to transform the tough walking to the walking tough is inevitable. Many issues are challenging our journey. Our vision for a better world is — where people's needs are met, justice is served, and everyone has the opportunity to thrive. Nonprofits are driven by a desire to address social, economic, environmental, and health challenges that governments and the private sector may not fully address. Our purpose is deeply rooted in a commitment to serving communities, advocating for change, and promoting equity.

Please, donate any amount to our cause!
